

Fund description and summary of investment policy

The Fund invests in a mix of shares, bonds, property, commodities and cash. The Fund can invest a maximum of 45% offshore. The Fund typically invests the bulk of its foreign allowance in a mix of funds managed by Orbis Investment Management Limited, our offshore investment partner. The maximum net equity exposure of the Fund is 40%. The Fund’s net equity exposure may be reduced from time to time using exchange-traded derivative contracts on stock market indices. The Fund is managed to comply with the investment limits governing retirement funds. Returns are likely to be less volatile than those of an equity-only fund or a balanced fund.

ASISA unit trust category: South African – Multi Asset – Low Equity

Fund objective and benchmark

The Fund aims to provide a high degree of capital stability and to minimise the risk of loss over any two-year period, while producing long-term returns that are superior to bank deposits. The Fund’s benchmark is the daily interest rate as supplied by FirstRand Bank Limited plus 2%.

How we aim to achieve the Fund’s objective

A major portion of the Fund is typically invested in money market instruments. We seek to deploy the Fund’s cash by investing in shares when they can be bought at a significant discount to their intrinsic value. We thoroughly research companies to assess their intrinsic value from a long-term perspective. This long-term perspective enables us to buy shares which are shunned by the stock market because of their unexciting or poor short-term prospects, but which are relatively attractively priced if one looks to the long term. If the stock market offers few attractive shares, we may allocate a low weight to shares or partially hedge the Fund’s stock market exposure in consideration of the Fund’s capital preservation objectives. The Fund may also invest in bonds, property and commodities. The Fund’s bond and money market investments are actively managed.

Suitable for those investors who

- Are risk-averse and require a high degree of capital stability
- Seek both above-inflation returns over the long term, and capital preservation over any two-year period
- Require some income but also some capital growth
- Wish to invest in a unit trust that complies with retirement fund investment limits

Annual management fee

Allan Gray charges a fee based on the net asset value of the Fund excluding the portion invested in Orbis funds. The fee rate is calculated daily by comparing the Fund's total performance over the last two years, to that of the benchmark. If the Fund's return over two years is equal to or less than 0%, Allan Gray will not charge a fee.

Fee for performance equal to the Fund's benchmark: 0.80% p.a. excl. VAT

For each percentage of two-year performance above or below the benchmark, we add or deduct 0.1%, subject to the following limits:

Maximum fee: 1.30% p.a. excl. VAT

Minimum fee: 0.30% p.a. excl. VAT

This means that Allan Gray shares in approximately 20% of annualised performance relative to the benchmark.

A portion of the Fund may be invested in Orbis funds. Orbis charges performance-based fees within these funds that are calculated based on each Orbis fund's performance relative to its own benchmark. Orbis pays a marketing and distribution fee to Allan Gray.

Total expense ratio (TER) and transaction costs

The annual management fees charged by both Allan Gray and Orbis are included in the TER. The TER is a measure of the actual expenses incurred by the Fund over a one and three-year period (annualised). Since Fund returns are quoted after deduction of these expenses, the TER should not be deducted from the published returns (refer to page 4 for further information). Transaction costs are disclosed separately.

Note: There may be slight discrepancies in the totals due to rounding.

Local assets performed strongly following the formation of the new government of national unity (GNU) in June, and this performance continued into the third quarter. Year to date, local shares have returned 15.9% – as measured by the FTSE/JSE Capped SWIX, bonds have returned 16.7% and cash has returned 6.1%. Over this period, the Fund delivered a return of 7.9%, ahead of the benchmark's 7.2% and August's year-to-date CPI inflation of 2.9%. The Fund's local share and bond holdings helped boost year-to-date performance, as both asset classes have outperformed cash.

The Fund aims to generate returns ahead of bank deposits and inflation, while maintaining a high degree of capital stability and minimising the risk of loss over any two-year period. Going into the election, the Fund was carefully positioned to achieve these objectives regardless of the outcome. An even higher allocation to risk assets would, of course, have delivered an even higher return, but this is easy to see in hindsight. While the national elections ultimately resulted in a market-friendly outcome, this was far from certain in the run-up to voting day. Even after the initial election results were declared, there was still much uncertainty about the form the ruling coalition would take.

Given the recent rally in South African assets following the announcement of the GNU, the Fund has taken some profits on both local shares and bonds. Short-term prospects for the South African consumer are looking better than a year ago, with the South African Reserve Bank cutting interest rates by 25 basis points (bps) over the quarter. Lower oil prices, probable further rate cuts and proceeds from the two-pot retirement reform will also put more money into the hands of consumers. Moreover, the reprieve in loadshedding has reduced non-productive expenditure which should improve revenue opportunities for local companies. Beyond these temporary tailwinds, however, we remain concerned about South Africa's growth prospects. Opposing ideologies between and within the GNU's coalition partners are likely to cause complications down the road and, in the meantime, South Africa still faces serious structural issues. These include the ongoing challenges at Eskom and Transnet, as well as deteriorating local government infrastructure. It is therefore possible that the recent enthusiasm, which has seen South Africa outperform many of its emerging market peers, has gotten ahead of itself. We carefully weigh up these considerations as we review the investment cases for local assets, and despite the broader structural concerns, we continue to find some compelling opportunities.

At yields of 8-9%, the return on local cash is currently attractive in real terms and, as a result, the Fund's cash balance has remained substantial over the quarter. In our view, cash is a valuable source of optionality, giving us the flexibility to take advantage of opportunities as they arise. The incremental return that can be earned on longer-dated bonds has narrowed considerably, making bonds a less attractive alternative. The Fund takes little credit risk, and its bond exposure is towards the shorter end of the curve.

The rand has strengthened in the months following the election, causing the Fund's foreign exposure to be a drag on performance. The same can be said for "rand hedge" shares, such as Anheuser-Busch InBev. The Fund maintains a foreign exposure of 31%, with the ability to increase this up to 45%. Currently, most of the Fund's offshore allocation is invested in low-risk instruments such as cash or cash-like securities and hedged equities. The foreign component of the Fund remains a useful source of protection against negative developments in South Africa or a pullback in local asset prices.

Over the quarter, we added to our existing positions in inflation-linked bonds and Gold Fields, and trimmed our exposure to British American Tobacco, Glencore and long-dated South African government bonds.

Performance

Collective investment schemes in securities (unit trusts or funds) are generally medium- to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Movements in exchange rates may also cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. The Management Company does not provide any guarantee regarding the capital or the performance of the Fund. Performance figures are provided by the Investment Manager and are for lump sum investments with income distributions reinvested. Actual investor performance may differ as a result of the investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax.

Fund mandate

Funds may be closed to new investments at any time in order to be managed according to their mandates. Unit trusts are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The funds may borrow up to 10% of their market value to bridge insufficient liquidity.

Unit price

Unit trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total market value of all assets in the Fund, including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions from the Fund, divided by the number of units in issue. Forward pricing is used and fund valuations take place at approximately 16:00 each business day. Purchase and redemption requests must be received by the Management Company by 14:00 each business day to receive that day's price. Unit trust prices are available daily on www.allangray.co.za.

Fees

Permissible deductions may include management fees, brokerage, securities transfer tax, auditor's fees, bank charges and trustee fees.

A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from Allan Gray. For more information about our annual management fees, refer to the frequently asked questions, available via the Allan Gray website.

Total expense ratio (TER) and transaction costs

The total expense ratio (TER) is the annualised percentage of the Fund's average assets under management that has been used to pay the Fund's actual expenses over the past one- and three-year periods. The TER includes the annual management fees that have been charged (both the fee at benchmark and any performance component charged), VAT and other expenses like audit and trustee fees. Transaction costs (including brokerage, securities transfer tax, Share Transactions Totally Electronic (STRATE) and FSCA Investor Protection Levy and VAT thereon) are shown separately. Transaction costs are necessary costs in administering the Fund and impact Fund returns. They should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time, including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager, and the TER. Since Fund returns are quoted after the deduction of these expenses, the TER and transaction costs should not be deducted again from published returns. As unit trust expenses vary, the current TER cannot be used as an indication of future TERs. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. Instead, when investing, the investment objective of the Fund should be aligned with the investor's objective and compared against the performance of the Fund. The TER and other funds' TERs should then be used to evaluate whether the Fund performance offers value for money. The sum of the TER and transaction costs is shown as the total investment charge (TIC).

Compliance with Regulation 28

Exposures in excess of the limits will be corrected immediately, except where due to a change in the fair value or characteristic of an asset, e.g. market value fluctuations, in which case they will be corrected within the prescribed regulatory time period. The Management Company does not monitor compliance by retirement funds with section 19(4) of the Pension Funds Act (item 6 of Table 1 to Regulation 28).
